

Since we are using openvz as virtualization layer, we are making use of openvz web panel as control panel. This is a active development which is running under the google source code project

Below you can find some screenshots of our VPS control panel. As a customer you can access it here .

More screenshot can be found on the google code project site.